Question (MS. EASTERLING):

And your opinions in that case were -- were they blaming the plaintiff for the incident? (MR. GRINNAN objection: object to the form, foundation.)

Answer (BENJAMIN GIBSON):

I don't think it was necessarily blaming the plaintiff in that case. I think it was noting that Energy Transfer was not involved in that work. They hired that contractor. They -- this guy was the foreman and had chose the means and method, that was more the theme in that case for -- given the nuances of that specific matter.

Strategic Signature

Deflection Advantage

Client Value: 9/10 · Opposition Value: 2/10

Summary

The defense probed Gibson about blaming the plaintiff, and he deflected blame toward Energy Transfer and contractor details. This shows the expert does not attribute fault to the plaintiff, reinforcing the prosecution's narrative that the defendants failed in safety practices. The key takeaway is that the expert's answer can be used to counter any defense argument that the plaintiff was primarily at fault. Walk into the next pair knowing this deflection is a strong asset for your case.

Use This

[HIGH] Call 6 · pattern

The "Blame Deflection" pattern directly demonstrates the expert's avoidance of blaming the plaintiff, providing solid evidence that supports the prosecution's claim of defendant negligence.

[MEDIUM] Call 4 · semantic_intent

Shows the defense's intent to probe blame, confirming that the expert's deflection is a response to a targeted question and can be leveraged to highlight the defense's focus on shifting blame.

Watch This

[LOW] Call 6 · pattern

While the defense might try to use the deflection to argue plaintiff negligence, the expert's statement already favors the prosecution. Emphasize that the defendants' safety failures remain the central issue.

Call Rank

#1 · Call 6 — Direct evidence of blame deflection, most valuable for prosecution.

#2 · Call 5 — Shows semantic shift away from plaintiff blame, reinforcing the deflection.

#3 · Call 4 — Highlights defense's probing intent, useful for framing the narrative.

#4 · Call 1 — Confirms topic stability, supporting context.

#5 · Call 2 — Provides referential consistency but limited strategic value.

#6 · Call 3 — Emotional absence noted; minimal impact on strategy.
